A REAL PROTECTION FOR YOUR FEET

THAT'S what you need for this variable climate.

Shoes that won't stand the weather—that shrink and harden, and lose shape—
are not the shoes for sensible buyers.

But "INVICTUS" shoes built for outdoor conditions, will measure fully up to your demands and expectations.

Get your feet into the "Best Good Shoe"

AROUND THE TOWN

Take a day off, Banff, July 19.

Miss Vena Dowdell was the small hostess at her birthday party on Monday afternoon.

Ed. Eby of Camrose was a visitor in town for a few days last week.

Ross Shantz returned from his homestead at Alsask on Saturday last.

Jim Murray of Slaveley, Alta., was a visitor in town for a few days last week.

Mr. E. Lindquist has sold his trotting stallion, "Lookhart," to Sinclair Bros., the blacksmiths.

H. E. Sands, accountant at the Union Bank, left for Winnipeg last week on his annual vacation at his home.

Mayor Atkins and J. H. Quirk of the Golden West Hotel were business visitors at Calgary last week.

Miss Edna Gainor of Calgary is visiting with Miss Mary Osmond, who returned from the city on Wednesday.

Bert Booker completed the painting of the band stand in the park last week and it certainly makes quite an improvement,
now it is completed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peterson and son of Tisdale, Sask., are visiting with their father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. C. L.
Peterson.

German services in the Evangelical church at 10.30 o'clock on Sunday. A cordial invitation is extended to all German speaking

Banff — Carstairs Methodist
Sunday School excursion, July 19

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Schildroth and daughter Minnie of New Hamburg, Ont., are visiting with their daughter and son-in-law,
Mr. and Mrs. Norman Weicker.

Mr. Chris Noehren of Edmonton, who has been paying Didsbury a business visit for the last few days, has purchased Mr. T.
Johnson's farm, southeast of town, which is close to Mr.
Noehren's property.

Messrs. Alex. McNaughton and Art. Chamberlain left for Calgary on Monday to take part in the annual shooting competitions of the Alberta rifle associations.
Let's hope they bring back some of the trophies to Didsbury.

Guests at the Ev. parsonage during camp meeting were J. F.
Damm, Waterloo, Ont.; H. Gell,
Alfeldt, Ont.; Andrew Heidinger,
Medicine Hat, and Miss E.
E. Fisher and R. J. Fisher, niece and nephew of Rev. and Mrs.
Daum, also of Medicine Hat.

A deal was completed last week whereby Mr. E. Lindquist purchased the house formerly occupied by Dr. Gaddes from Mr. J.
Murray. Mr. Lindquist will have the house thoroughly overhauled and several improvements made to it.

The wet weather of the last two weeks does not seem to have done any harm; in fact the grain, especially oats, is heading out in some places, and if the weather man will only turn on the other tap for fine warm weather now, this district will still have a much earlier harvest than usual. The slight frost of Saturday night did no harm in this district as far as can be ascertained.

Burk's Big Uncle Tom's Cabin
Company, under a mammoth canvass, will show at Didsbury on Wednesday night, July 24th. This show is the largest dramatic organization exhibiting under canvass and is the acknowledged Barnum of all "Uncle Tom's Cabin Companies." They travel in their own special train and have more men, women and children, more horses, ponies and donkeys and Siberian blood hounds, more chariots, floats, tableaux wagons, etc., than any other similar exhibition in America. The parade which will be held will be alone worth seeing. In combination with the play a large number of vaudeville artists of every kind are introduced during the action of the play, and Fred R. Pilcher's famous concert band and symphony orchestra are also a feature. Don't forget the date and place, Didsbury, Wednesday, proof pavilion seating 2,500.—Ad.

KIDNEY PAINS IN THE BACK

COULD NOT STAND OR EVEN
TURN IN BED—LEGS
GREATLY SWOLLEN

All Doctor's Medicine Failed—Cure Effected by Use of

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Again this great medicine has triumphed over kidney disease of a severe type. From a bed of suffering and helplessness Mrs. Walsh was restored to health and strength by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Kidney pains in the back tortured her. Dropsical swellings had set in and she had no reason to hope for cure, since the doctor's medicine failed to even relieve her. Read what the husband says about this remarkable cure.

Mr. Thos. D. Walsh, Picton, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago my wife took to her bed after suffering for a long time from kidney pains in the back. She was not able to stand on her feet, or even turn herself in bed. The doctor's medicine was no benefit whatever, that we could see. Sometimes her legs would swell considerably. Reading about a woman in similar condition being cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, we purchased two boxes and when these were used she was able to sit up. With three more boxes she was restored to health and doing her own housework."

"As for myself I also found these pills all that is claimed for them. I give this statement in order that others may obtain the same ease from suffering as that experienced by my wife and myself."

One pill a dose, 25c. a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Better Meat Nowadays

J. Ogden Armour defending packing house methods at luncheon in Chicago, said:—

"We eat, thanks to the packers, more wholesome meat than we formerly did. My father used to tell about a farm boy who once called at a house and took an order for a leg of mutton. Then, a day or two later, the boy called again."

"You'll have to countermand that mutton order, ma'am, he said."

"Yes. Why so?"

"The sheep's improvin', said the boy."

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

The value of canned pineapples shipped from Hawaii during the fiscal year of 1911 amounted to two million dollars.

Clear Stomach, Clear Mind.—The stomach is the workshop of the vital functions and when it gets out of order the whole system clogs in sympathy. The spirits flag, the mind droops and work becomes impossible. The first care should be to restore healthful action of the stomach and the best preparation for that purpose is Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. General use for years has won them a leading place in medicine. A trial will attest their value.

Human Hair Lace.

They are making lace from human hair now. It is not for trimming dresses with, but is used for the parting of wigs. It is made by hand and the knots are held by a solution of wax, otherwise they would unravel. When this lace is used it takes an almost microscopic examination to detect the wig is not natural.

Phonograph Records

The family in the next flat to ours has a phonograph.

Have they any good records?

Yes; they have one record for six hours continuous playing, and another of six hours and 20 minutes, almost continuous.—Washington Herald.

The Difference

Can any little boy, asked the new teacher, tell me the difference between a lake and an ocean.

I can, replied Edward, whose wisdom had been learned from experience. Lakes are much pleasanter to swallow when you fall in.

The great trouble with the men who get to the front is that they feel so big we can't see over their heads.

Christianity and Cricket

Cricket is peculiarly a Christian game. No pagan nation has played it. So a Melbourne paper is rebuking a couple of church clubs for coming to blows at the conclusion of a match. The Baptists started the trouble by offensive "barracking," which the Presbyterians indignantly resented. Words led to blows, much to the surprise of the spectators, who came to see cricket, not fighting. This is very sad. We thought football had a monopoly of that sort of thing. Happily the Australian and the South African teams are not members of the ecclesiastical clubs, so that there is no reason to fear that the "triangular tournament" will be marred by biffing.—London Chronicle.

Just a Starter

In order to impress upon his congregation the length of eternity, a colored preacher used the following illustration:

If a sparrow, brethren, should take a drop of water from the Atlantic Ocean at Conoy Island, and with this drop of water in his beak should hop a hop a day until it reached the Pacific Ocean at San Francisco, and when it got this done should turn about and hop a hop a day all the way back to Conoy Island, and keep on doing this very same thing until it had carried the whole Atlantic Ocean over into the Pacific, it would then only be early morning in eternity.—Everybody's Magazine.

Not a Somnambulist

What do you mean by laying hands on this young man? asked the policeman.

Why, replied Mr. Cornstessel, them clothes—

That's all right. He's a Marathon runner.

Excuse me, I thought he was walking in his sleep.—Washington Star.

Tramp—You know the sayin', mum: He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord.

Mrs. Subbubs—Very true. And since you speak in proverbs, I'll refer you to another old saw.

Tramp—Which one is dat, mum?

Mrs. S.—The one back in the woodshed.

WEAK, TIRED PEOPLE

Are Usually the Victims of Pale, Watery Blood

Anaemia is the medical term for poor or watery blood. It may arise from a variety of causes, such as lack of exercise, hard study, improperly ventilated rooms or workshops, imperfect assimilation of food, etc. The chief symptoms are extreme paleness of the face, lips and gums; rapid breathing and palpitation of the heart after slight exertion; headaches, dizziness, sometimes fainting spells and a tendency to hysterics, swelling of the feet and limbs, a feeling of constant tiredness and a distaste for food. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a certain cure for anaemia, because they make new, rich blood, which stimulates and strengthens every organ and every part of the body. The following is one among thousands of cases of this serious trouble cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Miss Georgina Raymond, St. Jerome, Que., says: "About a year ago my health began to give out. I suffered from headaches, heart palpitation, dizziness and appeared to be threatened with a general breakdown. I was at this time employed in the family of a doctor, who seeing my condition, gave me medicine. I took this faithfully for some time, but with no benefit, and I grew much discouraged. Then a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, saying that she had found a cure through them in similar conditions. I took her advice, got a supply of the pills and took them regularly for some time. Gradually I became strong and in the course of a month or so I was again enjoying the best of health, and have not since had the least return of the old symptoms. I can heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak girls. Sold by all medicine dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, or sent by mail, post paid, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co."

Scotland's Songs

The great man had come at last, and all the youngsters were on the alert, cudgelling their little brains to remember the answers to all the questions likely to be asked them by his majesty's inspector.

He had gone the round of almost the entire school, and the staff of overworked teachers felt proud of the smartness and intelligence displayed by their pupils. It was now the turn of the last and brightest class in the school, who answered all questions with unflinching readiness. As a last poser the great one asked them to name some of Scotland's most famous songs. Quick as lightning the head boy answered with "Ye Banks and Braes," then came a somewhat lengthy pause, while the staff looked anxious. Come, come! Surely you know another one. What! Not know that one with a world-wide reputation? encouraged their questioner, thinking of "Auld Lang Syne."

Straightway, to everyone's surprise the dull one at the back of the class shot up his hand.

Well, what is it? queried the tormentor.

In proudly important tones came with a roar:

"Stop Your Tickling Jock."

Through indiscretion in eating green fruit in summer many children become subject to cholera morbus caused by irritating acids that act violently on the lining of the intestines. Pains and dangerous purgings ensue and the delicate system of the child suffers under the strain. In such cases the safest and surest medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It will check the inflammation and save the child's life.

Be there any work around here missus? asked the applicant.

Well, we do need a man, replied the woman. Do you want work?

Yessum.

Well, I'm looking for a man to do the odd jobs around the house, always be polite, willing to work, and never be impudent.

Did you say you was looking for a hired man, missus? asked the negro.

Yes, why do you ask?

Well, it 'pears to me that a hired man isn't what you want. You want a husband.

Golden Wedding

A quiet celebration of a golden wedding was held at the residence of Mr. H. Reiber on Monday, it being the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Liesemer. A very enjoyable time was spent by those present and of course Mr. and Mrs. Liesemer were the recipients of a great many good wishes for a long continued happy married life in which the Pioneer wishes to join.

All of Mr. and Mrs. Liesemer's children were present except George and family, who live in Ontario; there were also thirteen grand children present. Those present were Mrs. W. Miller and daughter of Mildmay, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Diebel, Mr. and Mrs. John Liesemer and Mr. and Mrs. H. Reiber of Didsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liesemer of Carstairs, and Pete, Ed. and Con. Liesemer of Neapolis.

Camp Meeting

(Contributed by Rev. Daum.)

The first annual camp meeting of the Alberta Holiness Association, held in this town from July 5th to July 15th, proved a marked success. Despite the continuous rainfall and the inclement weather the attendance continued to increase until both the attendance and interest ran at high tide, and the very spacious tent, seating about 800 people, was completely filled.

The speaker, Rev. L. Milton Williams, is a man of wide experience, having covered most of the American continent as major of the Salvation Army, and now as traveling evangelist. In his work he is fearless as well as defiant in his defence of the Word of God, and his condemnation of the sin and worldliness of the present day people and churches. Professor Wyland, who was in charge of the singing, filled his position most ably, and as a soloist he won for himself the undivided praise and esteem of his entire audiences. Also Rev. Campbell, state evangelist of the Nebraska Methodist church, did excellent service in preaching the unadulterated truths on several occasions.

Other pastors present from a distance were Reverends Brown of Edmonton, Bell of Calgary, Traub of Markham and Wold of Camrose Baptist church, and Rev. Riley of the Edmonton Negro Baptist church.

The moneys raised to cover the expense of this encampment and to carry on the work of the association for the coming year by far exceeded the expectations of leaders and people. The sum raised by cash contributions for this year's work, including the purchase of the tent, amounted to over $900, leaving in the treasury a fair surplus for future work, besides the $2,000 pledged for that specific purpose.

Didsbury School Wins Silver Cup

Word has just been received by Mr. J. M. Reed, Secretary of the School Board, that the Didsbury school has won the silver cup, donated by Mr. Geo. Cloakey of Olds for the best kept grounds in Inspector Aylesworth's inspectorate. This is quite a feather in the caps of not only the School Board, janitor and teaching staff but also the scholars, because they have also had something to do in winning the cup by taking care of the school property. It is to be hoped that the scholars will take still more interest another year and help those in charge to beautify the grounds and make them still more presentable and again win the cup.

The School Board have been considering the advisability of engaging a B. A. for the new room that will be opened up in the school when the new school term opens, but Inspector Aylesworth has advised them that it would be better to employ another male first-class assistant to Principal Topliffe, who should have charge of the new room, which should be devoted exclusively to high school work, thereby not only receiving the extra grant for the extra room, but for high school work as well, which would not be received under the other plan. The School Board are considering the matter.

Principal Topliffe has applied for a raise in salary from $1,050 to $1,200.

Miss Whelien has resigned her position on the teaching staff as the School Board could not see their way clear to granting her a raise in salary.

Forgive me, Mr. Worth! I feel things too deeply! Remember, I am not English. No, indeed, are you.

I am American, Mr. Sarto, and I hate scenes. If you will pardon me, as I am in a hurry, I will drive on!

He called to the driver the address of the toyshop in Regent Street, and the man whipped up his horse, leaving Sarto standing at the edge of the pavement, staring after the cab with a haggard, disconcerted expression.

Hardly were they out of Fleet Street when Harry gave his driver another direction. There was more than one large toyshop in London, and he was determined to be rid of Leopold Sarto for that day, at least.

The more he saw of the man the more thoroughly he distrusted him. Sarto had owned to having drugged him in the Bloxham train by accident, but he had not alluded to the fact that he had overhauled Harry's pockets while he was insensible.

The ebullition of rage he had just manifested on the subject of the Jessops appeared strained and artificial and his action in sweeping the cup off the table and kicking it to pieces a gross piece of rudeness.

That there should be any motive for such conduct seemed for the moment incredible; yet when, a few minutes later Harry stood in a toyshop not far from Waterloo station preparing to pay for an immense child's cart he had bought, he made a singular discovery.

Secreted in the right-hand pocket of his waistcoat, alongside of his loose change, he found a small medicine bottle of the kind that is often used for carrying laudanum and other poisons. The bottle was corked, and apparently empty; but on examining it more closely Harry found that it still contained a few drops of liquid colourless, and almost without scent.

He was a methodical young man in his personal habits, and was positive that he had never seen the bottle before. How or when it had got into his pocket he could not imagine. He paid for the horse and cart, gave the address to which it was to be sent as "Master Edwin Jessop, The Lodge, Lodgers Abbey, Crayborne, Dorset, and then made his way to the nearest chemist's shop, at which he handed the little glass bottle across the counter to have the contents analyzed, stating that as he lived in the country he would wait to hear the result.

It came into my possession by accident, he explained, but I have a special reason for wanting to know what is inside it.

I hope you have not been taking any of this? the chemist observed as he returned after an interval. But it is clear you have not, for the liquid is a very strong preparation from arsenic, and there would have been enough in this bottle when full to kill two or three persons.

"Six months ago my face and throat all broke out on the top of my head and it became a solid scab. Then her cheeks became raw and sore and after trying different remedies found relief only from using Cuticura Soap and Ointment. It lasted six months or more, but after a thorough treatment with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment never had any return." (Signed) Mrs. W. S. Owen, Yackin College, N. C., May 26, 1911.

For more than a generation Cuticura Soap and Ointment have afforded the most successful treatment for skin and scalp troubles of infants, children and adults. A single cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment are often sufficient. Harry took the bottle and slipped it back into his pocket mechanically.

In the same dazed way he gave his name and address to the chemist at the latter's suggestion, and informed him that he had found the bottle "in a toyshop in Fleet Street."

Then he got into the hansom that was waiting and was driven to Waterloo station in time to catch the late afternoon train for Bloxham.

He was by nature observant, but not in the least suspicious. Yet the conviction borne in upon him with overwhelming force was that the mysterious Leopold Sarto who had drugged him, had deliberately tracked him from Lincoln's Inn Fields to the "Cheshire Cheese" for the purpose of poisoning him, and that, having emptied a bottleful of arsenic preparation into his coffee, he had for some reason repented of his intended crime and destroyed the cup by dashing it off the table and kicking it to pieces.

Going over all that had taken place, as he sat in the train, Harry could not rid himself of this idea. As to the tiny bottle which he had found in his pocket, the would-be murderer's intention was clear. He had declared that he was leaving London "almost immediately." Doubtless he meant to slip out of the inn, leaving Harry dead or dying at the table. Then when the young American's pockets were examined in a search after his identity, the bottle would have been found, containing a few drops of the poison which had killed him, and his death would be ascribed to suicide.

It would have been useless to return to Fleet Street to ask that the fragments of the cup might be looked at. They had doubtless been thrown away long ago, and it was evident that Sarto was not a habitué of the place. Harry recalled now that he had more than once suspected that he was being followed as he left the lawyer's office.

But how did Sarto know that he would be at a particular address in Lincoln's Inn Fields on a particular day?

And why should he wish to kill him? What advantage would he gain by doing so?

It was certain that he knew from Harry's papers who he was, and that he was also aware of the name and the address of Harry's solicitors.

Yet even the hatred and horror he had expressed against the "bastard of the Clavels" would not justify him in deliberately attempting to poison another claimant of the name.

The only explanation possible was that the man was a dangerous lunatic and to this conclusion Harry had almost arrived by the time he reached Bloxham.

Here he chartered a conveyance to drive over to Crayborne, and by this means arrived at the Manor Farm on a still, close evening under a drizzling rain, before eight o'clock. The dining-room table was spread for his supper of cold ham, cold beef, cheese and Dorset ale; for in rural England Harry fared as do the rural English, and astonishingly good living he found it.

A letter for him, unstamped, in a feminine handwriting lay on the cloth. He opened it and read the following words—

Dear Mr. Clavel—
Since you really are a Clavel, it is better to call you by your name! I cannot tell you how distressed I feel about last night. Why didn't you tell me right out before? I would never have let you risk being annoyed by my uncle. You will understand that he has reason to be hardly satisfied with the subject. But, Clavel or not, you are a kind, brave, honorable gentleman, and I am under such deep obligations to you that I feel sorry I ever talked to you against your family, and I ask you to forgive me, and remain friends with yours sincerely,
Lillian Morgan.

Harry was touched by the letter, which was just what he might have expected from its frank, affectionate writer. He was still smiling over it when Mrs. Anning entered the room. You must wait your supper, sir! she exclaimed. But dear me, you are in luck, with two ladies coming to enquire after you as soon as you leave Crayborne.

Two ladies?
Bless me, I oughtn't to have told you about the other, I suppose! Anyhow, the first was my young lady that was, Miss Edith's daughter. She rode over and had a cup of tea with me, and a good chat about you, sir, as you may guess. Mrs. Anning added archly. And then, about an hour ago, who should come over but Lady Anne.

Lady Anne! Did she leave a message?
No, sir. In fact, I do believe she told me to say nothing about her coming to you or to anybody. She was only here two or three minutes. First she asked a lot about Sammy and his wounded arm, that's nothing much after all, and then she said she wanted to speak to him. So I went to hunt him up, but I could not find him. He'd locked the out-house door, and may have been inside, for aught I know. But if so, he wouldn't budge, and he had stuffed the keyhole up, as he does, so as I couldn't see in.

When I came back and told that to my lady she was pacing up and down the dining-room, looking white as a ghost; and before I could do more than tell her I couldn't find Sammy, she cut me short.

You say Mr. Worth is in London, she said. Tell no one of my visit but come round to the lodge and leave word for me the moment he returns. Be sure you don't forget this, as it is most important!

It Must Have Been Annoying

The Circle Railroad in London describes a circle whose diameter is about ten miles. In the car one day was a very obese lady who expressed the utmost solicitude lest she be carried past her station.

A passenger assured her that the station was a half-hour away, and that he would tell her when they reached it.

Thank you very much sir, said the fat old lady, but whenever I get out, bein' as I'm so 'eavy, I backs out; and I ain't more than half-way out before along comes the guard, and he says, look lively there, mum, says he, look lively, and he pushes me back in again, and I've been around the circle three times this morning.—Manchester Guardian.

An Oil Without Alcohol.—Some oils and many medicines have alcohol as a prominent ingredient. A judicious mingling of six essential oils compose the famous Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, and there is no alcohol in it, so that its effects are lasting. There is no medicinal oil compounded that can equal this oil in its preventive and healing power.

One He Didn't Make

The colony of artists living in St. Botolph street are having a laugh on a man who has been considerable of a nuisance to them the past few months. This man prides himself on a brusqueness that he mistakes for wit. The other night he was introduced to a young sculptor whose fame is getting beyond the confines of Boston.

So you are the chap that makes mud heads, are you, asked the witty man.

Not all of them, the sculptor remarked quietly.—Boston Traveler.

New York City, below its mangled coverings, is a huge stone lizard sprawled flat on its belly, its head erect at Spuyten-Tuyvel, its arms and legs touching the two rivers, its tail flopping the Battery. All along the spine and flanks of this reptile of gnawed tormenting men dig and bore and blast; driving tunnels through its vitals; scooping holes for sub-cellars five floors underground; running water pipes and gas mains; puncturing its skin with hypodermics of steam; weighting it with skyscrapers, the dismal streets below dark as sunless ravines; plastering its sides with grass bordered by asphalt into which scraggy trees are stuck and—as a crowning indignity—criss-crossing its backbone with centripetal steel highways for endless puffing trains belching heat and gas. —F. Hopkinson Smith, in the World's Work.

SALLOW FACES

Often Caused by Tea and Coffee Drinking

How many persons realize that tea and coffee so disturb digestion that they produce a muddy, yellow complexion?

A ten days' trial of Postum has proven a means, in thousands of cases, of clearing up a bad complexion.

A Washin. young lady tells her experience:

"All of us—father, mother, sister and brother—had used tea and coffee for many years until finally we all had stomach troubles more or less."

"We all were sallow and troubled with pimples, breath bad, disagreeable taste in the mouth, and all of us simply so many bundles of nerves."

"We didn't realize that tea and coffee caused the trouble until one day we ran out of coffee and went to borrow some from a neighbor. She gave us some Postum and told us to try that."

"Although we started to make it, we all felt sure we would be sick if we missed our strong coffee, but we tried Postum and were surprised to find it delicious."

"We read the statements on the pkg., got more and in a month and a half you wouldn't have known us. We all were able to digest our food without any trouble, each one's skin became clear, tongues cleaned off, and nerves in fine condition. We never use anything now but Postum. There is nothing like it." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Museum Lecturer

It is reported in Nature that the installation of an official guide to the collections of the British Museum has been such a success that the Natural History Museum at South Kensington has added a similar functionary to its staff. He will make two trips a day through the Museum, each one lasting an hour, and presumably involving a visit to and brief explanation of the most interesting and instructive habits. To say that this plan will double the educational value of the Museum is to state the case for it very mildly. For many of the visitors, probably the vast majority of them, the collections in such museums undescribed, mean nothing. The same thing is true to a lesser degree in zoological gardens, and even art museums. The provision of a lecturer, sufficiently (and obviously) scientific or artistic, so that the timing problem was eliminated, would add enormously to the value of every public museum. There seems no way in which the amount of money necessary to secure the services of a really competent man for this position could be spent to better advantage.

Potted Roses

There was a time when Englishmen could celebrate St. George's Day by feasting on roses as well as wearing them. Old cookery books abound in recipes into which rose leaves enter.

One writer tells how to make potted roses. I first pound some of the most fragrant roses in a mortar, then I take the brains of birds and pigs well boiled and stripped of every particle of meat. I then add the yolks of some eggs, some oil, a little cordial, some pepper and some wine. After having beaten and mixed it well together, I place it over a slow fire. When this dish is brought to table the most delicious fragrance issues forth, covering the guests with delight. Every good housewife in the seventeenth century made rose water, which was used for flavoring food.—London Chronicle.

A Slander—Is it true that your daughter has married a highbrow, Mrs. Rockingham?

No, that story was started by some of the girls who were jealous. Daisy's husband is a writer, but his royalties amount to over $40,000 a year.—Chicago Record Herald.

She (cynically)—You don't do it like an amateur.

He (wrathfully)—Decentful one, how do you know the difference?—Baltimore American.

Could Not be Worse

Old gent—Pon my word, madam, I should hardly have known you, you have altered so much.

Lady—For the better or for the worse?

Old gent—Ah, madam, you could only change for the better.

The Home of the Death Flower

The crew of the vessel which is setting out to solve the mystery of the mammoth statues of Easter Island must steer clear of El Banoor, another island of the Pacific. One of our early explorers, Hugh Arkwright, who sailed the Pacific in 1581, warns travelers against visiting El Banoor—the home of the death flower. This flower, we are told, is so large that a man can stand upright inside one of its blossoms. But if he does so he will surely fall asleep, lulled by the strange fragrance it distills. Then the flower folds its petals and suffocates him. And so he passes into death through splendid dreams, and gives his body to the death flower for food.—London Chronicle.

Are You Blue and Worried?

Nervous? Some of the time really ill? Catch cold easily and frequently suffer from biliousness or headache? The reason is that your system does not rid itself of the poisons in the blood; just as impossible as it is for the grate of a stove to rid itself of cinders. The waste does to us exactly what the cinders do to the stove; make the fire burn low until enough cinders have accumulated and then prevent its burning at all. Your liver is sluggish—you are dull and heavy—sleep does not rest, nor is food appetizing. In this condition illness develops. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery eradicates the poisons from the body—a glyceric alternative extract made from bloodroot, golden seal and mandrake root, stone and queen's root, without the use of alcohol. No matter how strong the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

Mrs. BENJ. BLAKE, of Port Dover, Ont., Box 86, writes: "I have been a great sufferer for years from throat trouble, catarrh, indigestion, female troubles, bloating, constipation and nervousness—at times I would be in bed, then able to be up again. Was under many different doctors' care, and would get better for a little while, then I would go down with chronic inflammation all through me. For nineteen years I had this poison in my blood. After trying nearly everything I got worse. I read in The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I have taken five bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and have used five bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. I am now able to do my work and walk with pleasure. I feel like a new woman. I enjoy everything around me and thank God for letting me live long enough to find something that made me well again."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels.

PREMIER BORDEN DELIVERS AN IMPRESSIVE SPEECH IN LONDON

Before a Large Gathering of the Royal Colonial Institute, the Premier Defines Canada's Position on Questions Effecting the British Empire

London.—Right Hon. R. L. Borden made an historic first speech at a record breaking gathering of the Royal Colonial Institute, before a company numbering 270, and representative of the whole empire. With measured dignity Mr. Borden enunciated the Canadian policy and deeply impressed the many British parliamentarians present, and when he pronounced emphatically that Canada stood for one king, one flag, one empire and one navy, the cheering was vociferous and long continued. The applause was renewed when Mr. Borden added that no jot of Canada's dearly won autonomy need be, or should be sacrificed.

Responding to the toast of "Our guest" the premier, after giving an interesting account of marvellous progress and development in Canada dealt with more important questions.

We have the mandate of the Canadian people to discuss some matters of great imperial concern. In advance of the discussion it is not to be expected that I should make tonight any announcement as to our co-operation in naval defence. One or two declarations which were made many times in Canada may perhaps be repeated with advantage.

It is a saying that the Naval supremacy of the Empire is the very breath of its life, without which it cannot possibly endure. It has also seemed to us that this supremacy can only be maintained by one united navy, powerful in day of stress or of peril to vindicate the flag and maintain the empire's existence. There are two considerations before us. The first touches a possibly immediate gravity under existing conditions. The other touches the more difficult and more complex question of permanent co-operation in the Empire's defence upon the high seas. The second of these considerations raises in concrete form the question of the future constitution of the organization of the Empire.

It is sufficient for the moment to emphasize our view that any great dominion undertaking to share upon a permanent basis in the sea defence of the Empire must have some voice in the policy which shapes the issues of war or peace. Canada does not propose to be merely an adjunct to even the British Empire, she faces the future today with a proud spirit conscious of her problems, but equally conscious of her ability to solve them. Watchful and patient of her resources she is determined they shall be developed in the interests of her people.

Mindful of her opportunities and her responsibilities she is resolved to play her full part in maintaining the unity of the Empire in promoting its influence for the cause of civilization and humanity and for peace among nations.

SHORT NOTICES IN CANADA

Auto Rules More Stringent Here Than in U.S., Party Finds

Ottawa, Ont.—After a motor trip of thousands of miles all the way from Saskatchewan province to Ottawa, a party of five automobile enthusiasts arrived in town.

Most of the journey had to be made via American roads as Canadian roads as a rule are anything but ideal for motoring purposes.

When the party arrived in Ottawa latter would mean a $50 fine for them they had disapproved on their auto two numbers, an Ontario and a Saskatchewan.

When told that the presence of the they were at first incredulous and it was not until they had personally consulted Chief Ross and were emphatically assured that this was so that they removed it. Canadian laws governing automobile are much more stringent than American.

The fact was somewhat amusingly illustrated by an incident of the trip. In every American state they entered they had been given sixty days to change their numbers or leave.

When they arrived in Windsor, Ontario, they saw the magistrate and explained what had hitherto been the custom.

You have sixty minutes to do it here, he said.

Calgary Gas Lines

Calgary.—The long pipe line of the Western Canada Natural Gas Company from Bow Island to Calgary was completed recently, but gas will not be turned on until early next week. It will require several days to go over the line, and to blow out scale from the pipes.

The pipe line is 181 miles long, and the contract for the piping was the largest single order of its kind ever given in the world. The contract for the construction work was let to Corcoran and Company, of Pittsburgh. Work began three months ago, and has been pushed steadily to completion. The company which will supply the gas is composed of local and English capitalists. The expenditure was approximately $3,000,000.

Volcano Dust Kills Mosquitoes

Vancouver.—Kittling volcano which recently erupted in Alaska, sent sulphuric fumes drifting down the British Columbia coast in a light haze that obscured the landscape and did minor damage of a curious character. Linen clothing hung on lines was rendered forever useless and brass and other metals exposed was covered with a thick black scum.

In low sections of the Fraser Valley mosquitoes are every year a pest but now not one is found. By careful analysis it has been discovered that standing pools of water that usually breed them have become impregnated with sulphuric acid from the deposits carried in and all the baby insect were killed.

Campaign for Best Settlers

Montreal.—A campaign to induce the very best class of settlers to come to Canada from Great Britain next season is to be begun at once by the Canadian Northern. Thos. Hewell, general emigration agent for the company, leaves on the Royal Edward, of the Canadian Northern line, to make preparation for carrying out a successful campaign. Most of the work will be centred in the west of England, where some of the most desirable settlers are to be found.

SIR DONALD MANN ON DEFENSE

Would Have Canada Contribute Squadron at Once and Plan Own Shipyards

Victoria.—An interesting contribution to discussion on what part Canada should take in naval defense developed in the course of an interview with Sir Donald Mann.

His conclusions may be summarized under three heads:

1.—What Canada ought to do in present emergency.

2.—What form a permanent policy should take.

3.—And how it can be arranged for Canada to have a voice in Imperial councils.

Under the first head, Sir Donald would have Canada make an immediate grant for the construction of a number of vessels, as many as the admiralty might suggest, these ships to comprise a Canadian squadron placed in the service of the Royal Navy. Such an immediate contribution he considers necessary in view of the strain of Anglo-German relations.

As a permanent policy for Canada he says create a fleet to be stationed on the Atlantic and Pacific oceans at the call of admiralty.

The construction of dry-docks on both coasts, together with establishment of steel shipbuilding industries should go hand in hand with creation of fleet units, so that eventually the vessels comprising these shall be built in Canada.

His third suggestion whereby Canada may have a voice in Imperial council is to make the conference a permanent organization.

The personnel of such a body should he considers, always be resident in London to advise overseas parliaments on questions of vital importance to the Empire.

Borden Impressed by Naval Review

London.—The Canadian ministers attended the imposing naval review at Spithead, leaving Portsmouth dockyard on the admiralty yacht Enchantress, and steaming through the lines of warships, being saluted by each ship in turn.

Premier Borden stood on the bridge with Winston Churchill, first Lord of the Admiralty, and was visibly impressed.

After the review the Canadian Premier returned to London where he was the guest at dinner of Lewis Harcourt the colonial secretary.

Among the Premier's future social engagements is a week-end with Rudyard Kipling and shortly he and Mrs. Borden will dine and sleep at the King's command.

ANOTHER YEAR ON THE CENSUS

Returns on Nationalities and Religions in a Month

Ottawa.—It will probably be another month before the census returns as to nationalities and religions are tabulated by the census branch.

The statement that it is expected the work of the branch will be completed by November next is denied at the branch where it is stated that it will require practically another year to complete the work.

Perry to Ottawa

Ottawa.—The Evening Citizen says that Commissioner Perry of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police is almost certain to be appointed controller of the fire and administrator of the unorganized territories to succeed Colonel Fred White who retires.

BIG DIAMONDS IN UNGAVA

Ottawa Party Going After Definite Find—Not Prospect

Ottawa, Ont.—Another Ottawa expedition will leave in quest of Ungava's rumored fabulous diamond wealth, in the departure within the next few days of Mr. R. E. G. Burroughs, of Smith's Falls, and party.

Mr. Burroughs is being backed by a number of Ottawa people, among whom is Mr. James Lean. He is an old miner himself, and has also been up in Ungava long enough to become well acquainted with that country. I am going in after a definite find, not just on prospect, he stated when seen.

He will take a party with him, and expects to be back in a year. Cochran is the jumping-off point for the expedition to Ungava, the trip, in from that point being from between one to four hundred miles, mostly by canoe down the East River, a navigable stream.

The diamonds are said to be found in blue clay instead of the chromite in which the only Canadian diamonds yet discovered were embedded.

GRAND TRUNK SENDS 'EM WEST

Over 8,000 Here so Far From Ontario—As Many More.

Toronto.—The Grand Trunk is conducting an active campaign throughout Ontario to secure settlers for Western Canada and the regular ticket agents and special representatives are vigorously canvassing the farmers of this province.

They hope to secure between fifteen and twenty thousand settlers before September.

Since April the railway has carried 8,000 settlers to the West and nearly all have taken up land.

A percentage are locating in the new Peace River district, the others being scattered all over the West.

This is the inception of the Grand Trunk's efforts to promote settlement in the West.

Prince Arthur to Marry Cousin of Czar

Paris.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Echo de Paris reports that Prince Arthur of Connaught, only son of the Duke of Connaught, will shortly marry Princess Irene Alexandrovna, daughter of the Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, who is a cousin of the Czar.

It is stated that the marriage was decided upon last August.

No announcement was made then owing to the youth of the Princess, who is now just about to reach her 17th birthday, when the betrothal will be announced.

The marriage, it is added, will be celebrated in St. Petersburg and it is expected that King George will attend the ceremony.

Aviator Faints After Spill

Winnipeg.—A scare was caused at the exhibition when the monoplane of Geo. Mestach fell among the crowd.

The aviator started down the field but did not get enough speed in the face of an adverse wind and the result was that when about 20 feet in the air, the right wing of his machine veered, hit a low fence and careered over the track into the next fence and among the spectators.

Mestach was able to jump out and then fainted. On being brought around he was found to be uninjured.

One spectator was hurt, but not badly. The machine was badly damaged.

British Monarch Descends into Coal Mine

London.—For the first time in history, a British monarch descended into a coal pit. It was the Elsecar mine that was favored, almost within a stone's throw of the pit where so many lives had just been lost, and the King went down in the full knowledge of the Cadeby disaster.

His Majesty descended the shaft in a cage, with him being the Archbishop of York, Lord Fitzwilliam, Lord Charles Beresford and a man in charge.

HILTON SUCCEEDS RUTHERFORD

Chief Assistant in Health of Animals' Branch Gets Step

Ottawa.—Geo. Hilton, chief assistant in the health of animals' branch of the agricultural department and who has been for some time acting veterinary general, will, according to an authoritatively recent statement, receive the position of veterinary general in succession to Dr. J. G. Rutherford, who resigned some time ago to go west.

Dr. Hilton, before his appointment, was a resident of Portage la Prairie.

Bureau of Statistics

Ottawa.—A central bureau for the compilation of all statistics and information respecting Canada, its trade and other conditions, is likely to be the outcome of the work of the department into the subject. The need of reform is emphasized as there is considerable overlapping in the preparation of statistical information by different departments. So far as possible the work in the future will be done under one head. The commission will report in September.

Under Alien Labor Law

Montreal.—The representatives of the striking garment workers in the practice court, sought and received permission to take action against certain manufacturers under the alien labor law.

CONDITIONS BAD IN PERU

Claimed Natives are Subject to Tortures by Rubber Syndicate—United States Inquiry

Washington.—A repetition of the horrors of the Congo rubber industry among the native rubber gatherers of Peru is the cause of a dangerous mission which the state department has quietly sent up the Amazon river in the interest of humanity. Acting Secretary Huntington Wilson recently received information that Captain Stuart Fuller, one of the department's most trusted agents, had arrived at Iquitos, 200 miles up the Amazon, on his way to the wild stretch of country to learn the facts at first hand.

The state department reports indicate the existence of conditions below the equator that parallel the intolerable outrages in the Congo country in Africa, where natives were forced by tortures and mutilations to collect certain quantities of rubber for Belgian and other concessionaries. The concessionaire in the case of the rubber gatherers of the upper Putumayo river in Peru is asserted to be a British corporation. British representatives and the British government itself disclosed the charges against this corporation.

The state department, although no American citizens are involved, consulted with British officials and others interested in the welfare of these natives and made strong representations to the Peruvian government. It secured pledges from that government that through decrees which have been promulgated the obnoxious conditions will be terminated.

The department then despatched Captain Fuller on the mission of ascertaining whether the Peruvian pledge has been redeemed. Captain Fuller is an Iowa who rendered signal service to the state department during the disturbed days in China and later as a consular officer at Gotenhburg, Sweden and at Naples.

CANADA FOOTS OWN BILLS

Col. Hughes and Militia Officers Refuse British Generosity

Ottawa.—The government, through the minister of militia, has declined with thanks, the offer of the British war office to defray the expenses of the Canadian militia officers who will accompany Col. Hughes to England next month to learn modern militia tactics at first hand through attendance at the British army manoeuvres in September.

Although the Imperial government has generously offered to bear all the expenses in connection with the visit of the overseas officers, Col. Hughes believes that Canada is well able to pay bills connected with Canada's share of the Imperial service.

Some half dozen officers of the militia selected from various parts of Canada will accompany the minister to England at the end of next month.

The three already selected are Col. Morrison, of Ottawa, Col. Hodgkins of London, and Col. Landry of Quebec.

Swans from King George

Montreal.—The Dominion Express Company has just handled two remarkable shipments through Montreal.

One of these consisted of a pack of fox-hounds brought out from Ireland for the Toronto Hunt Club; and the other consists of six swans sent out to Owen Sound by His Majesty King George.

The six swans are addressed to the mayor of Owen Sound, and are intended to be put in ornamental waters in the parks of that town.

The King has a large number of swans on his domains, and it is his custom when they get too numerous to present the overflow to various municipalities.

It is not very often, however, that the swans go abroad, and the municipality of Owen Sound is certainly fortunate in being thus recognized by the King.

Canada Prohibits British Cattle

London.—Lord Strathcona, High Commissioner for Canada, has received intelligence that an order was signed by the minister of agriculture at Ottawa, cancelling existing permits for the importation from the United Kingdom of cattle, sheep, other ruminants, and swine, with the exception of animals actually in ships en route to Canada.

No further permits will be issued till the United Kingdom is officially declared free of foot-and-mouth disease.

For Safety at Sea

Berlin.—A conference for the purpose of drawing up measures of safety for sea-going vessels is to be held in London in the autumn. Both the United States and Germany, which took the first initiative in the matter have waived their claims. The German proposals to be presented to the conference will be drafted finally only after the holding of another German conference shortly before the meeting of the international conference in London.

Fear Car Congestion

Calgary.—To avoid the car congestion of last year in the handling of the grain crops, the Calgary Board of Trade has appointed a committee to gather data on the subject which will be laid before the Dominion Railway Commission when that body meets in this city July 25.

All the other boards of trade in Alberta will be called on for information to lay before the commission in view of the bumper crop in prospect.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON III.—THIRD QUARTER, FOR JULY 21, 1912

Text of the Lesson, Mark iv. 26-32; Matt. xiii. 33—Memory Verses 26-28. Golden Text, Matt. vi. 10—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The parable selected from Mark for today's lesson gives us two parables, one of which, the mustard seed, is the third in the regular order in Matt. xiii, while the gradual growth of the seed is recorded by Mark only. The verse from Matthew concerning the leaven is the fourth in the series, according to Matthew, and next week's lesson on the wheat and tares is the second. We will be better able to summarize these first four or five parables after next week. Concerning them it is said, "All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables, and without a parable spake he not unto them," thus fulfilling Ps. lxxviii. 2, 3. He spake the word unto them as they were able to hear it, and when they were alone He expounded all things to His disciples (Matt. xiii. 34, 35; Mark iv. 8, 34). His repeatedly saying, "If any man have ears to hear let him hear" (verses 9 and 23), or in the Revelation epistles, "He that hath an ear let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches," reminds us that many are dull of hearing and makes us long for such an anointed ear as Samuel had, to whom the Lord could whisper things and give him messages for others also. The admonitions, "Take heed what ye hear," and "Take heed how ye hear" (verse 24; Luke viii. 18), were never more needed than now, for false teachers and teaching abound everywhere. Our lesson title, "The Growth of the Kingdom," is very misleading, no doubt unintentionally, but bad all the same. It arises from the idea held by so many that the kingdom began when the Spirit came, in a special way and for a special purpose at Pentecost and has been growing ever since, whereas the truth is that the kingdom then at hand did not come and has not yet come, and when it does come it will not be gradual, but by a great catastrophe, a judgment, an overthrow of all enemies, according to Isa. xl. 4; xlii. 9-11; xxxiv. 1-2; lxvi. 15, 16; Rev. xix. 19, 20; xx. 1-3. What then is the growth now going on, as set forth in these Kingdom parables. His saying when they asked Him about the first one, "Unto you it is given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God" (verse 11). The kingdom is not growing, but the mystery more fully described in Eph. iii and elsewhere is growing. The church, which is His body, the elect from all nations who are to share the Kingdom with Him, growth unto an holy temple in the Lord (Eph. ii. 19-22). The seed of the first parable, the word of God, being faithfully sown, quietly works according to this first parable of today's lesson, the blade, the ear, the full corn in the ear, until the harvest, which, we shall see in next lesson, is the end of the age. The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou canst not tell whence it cometh or whither it goeth, is a truth on the same line.

The growth of the mustard seed into a great tree, sheltering the birds of the air in its branches or under its shadow, sets forth another phase of present things. That an herb should become a great tree is something out of the regular course of things, and these birds in the branches cause us to remember that in the parable of the sower the birds or fowls represented the devil (verses 4, 15). If in a discourse the speaker uses a figure and explains it, then a little later uses the same figure, his former explanation stands. The so called church has grown to be a vast something very different from what the Lord intended it to be, and if in the first twelve disciples there was one of whom our Lord said, "One of you is a devil" (John vi. 70), we cannot doubt but that in the great company of those who today are called Christians there may be many who for some reason other than the right one have taken refuge in the church.

As to the woman taking three measures of meal and leavening it till the whole was leavened, is it not very clear that the woman, the church, is doing that very thing, and in our day as never before? From the pass-over story of Ex. xii, where they were to search for and put away all leaven, there is no place in the Bible where leaven means anything good. It is always something corrupting, and Israel was forbidden to offer it with their sacrifice (Lev. ii. 11; vi. 17). In Lev. xxiii. 15-18, where the church is typified by the first fruits, leaven was commanded because of the evil that the Spirit foresaw would be in those first fruits, but it was met by the sacrifice of the next verse. In Amos iv. 5, they were told that offering with leaven was just like them and their sinful ways. When Sarah baked cakes quickly for her visitors she took three measures of meal, but we are sure that she had no time to use leaven (Gen. xviii. 6). Our Lord taught the disciples to beware of the leaven, or false teaching of Pharisees and Sadducees (Matt. xvi. 6, 12), and the Spirit by Paul said, let us keep the feast with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth (1 Cor. v. 8). This age of the mystery of the kingdom, the calling out of the church, while the kingdom is postponed, is marvelously set forth in these parables by Him who knew all.

Westcott News

Although the weather and the condition of the roads were most unfavorable, about 400 people were present at Westcott's sports. The committee had called it off the day before on account of the rain, but when the morning of the 12th came and the sun made its appearance, they decided to carry out what was possible of the programme. Only one half of the track was available for the races as the balance was under water, and the bicycle races had to be dropped for the same reason. Mr. Joseph Reed of Red Deer gave a splendid opening address, which was much appreciated by all. While telling the people the importance of the day in the history of the British empire, he also brought the people closer together by saying that a gathering of this kind was a God send for the many people who do not get a chance to go away for a little recreation, therefore they are always at home at their labors and getting more distant and backward as the days go by. He also thanked the committee for the opportunity given the people for many miles around to enjoy a pleasant visit and hand shake, saying it is impossible to go around to visit everybody, and a thing of this kind should be looked forward to by all who realize their duty toward all the people of their acquaintance and instead of coming once a year it should come several times.

Another matter we also wish to mention is that as we have to pay ourselves for all advice on legal matters, such as that below, we will have to charge the enquirer for the same, but along any other lines we will do our best to answer same free of charge.—Editor] Editor Pioneer.

Dear Sir—We are aware that you have in your paper no department devoted to the answering of queries but thought perhaps you would try and answer the one we present as it would be of great interest to several of your subscribers.

The question is, if a man dies leaving property, personal and real estate, but no will, what part of property does his wife inherit, first if there are no children, and second if there are children? If there are no children, who would inherit the part that doesn't go to the wife?

This question has caused some dispute, or argument, and it was decided to ask you to answer through your paper, for if the law is as unjust as some of the people are inclined to believe, a discussion of the matter would surely not be out of place. Hoping to see an answer in an early issue. Yours respectfully, A SUBSCRIBER.

P. S.—Also please answer the question as to whether a man can will his property to others without making adequate provisions for his wife.

A. S.

1st—Widow gets all.
2nd—Widow gets one-third, balance divided amongst children. If there are no children wife gets all.

HOW THE FARMER WOULD LOSE BY A SAMPLE MARKET

Every day it is becoming more and more evident that the most ruinous results to the farmers of the West would follow the establishment of sample markets for grain at Winnipeg and Fort William.

As a striking instance of the harm that would follow such a move, was brought out at an investigation of the traffic congestion on the Canadian railways before the Railway Commission at Ottawa. In giving their testimony J. W. Leonard of the C.P.R. and W. H. Biggar of the Grand Trunk Pacific stated that the congestion was very largely owing to their inability to secure rolling stock from the manufacturers as fast as it was required. All the car shops are behind hand with orders. In fact it is impossible for the car shops to turn out rolling stock as rapidly as the development of the country requires it. In this connection it was stated that the directors of one company had authorized the expenditure of $19,000,000 in rolling stock, but could get no firm to fill the orders.

It will be seen by these statements which were uncontradicted, that the congestion of traffic and car shortages on the railways of the west are owing to the exceedingly rapid development of the country rather than to the neglect of the railway companies. And this wonderful development is as yet only in its early stages, and when it is completed how will our transportation companies be able to handle the traffic? The grain congestion of last fall was bad enough but with the increased acreage under cultivation each year the conditions will grow worse as time passes, unless radical measures are taken to prevent it.

With these facts in view, what can be said of the criminal folly of establishing a sample market that will at one stroke take away twenty-five per cent of the cars now available for the grain carrying trade. Before many years pass the grain crop of the west will be over five hundred million bushels. And when that time comes, even providing that the sample market is a qualified success, which is impossible, the twenty-five per cent loss of cars will still be as great in proportion as it would be if the sample market were established today. Any intelligent farmer can figure out for himself what the loss would be to him, were the sample market established and the cars detained at Winnipeg as they would be for from twenty-four to forty-eight hours on every trip, and how much wheat would be left in his granary that would otherwise be shipped, sold and paid for. Remember that it would mean, under ordinary conditions, that one bushel out of every four is left on his hands at the close of navigation.

And why, in the name of ordinary common sense should the farmer be put to this loss and inconvenience? There is no reason whatever for he stands to lose at every turn. The only persons who could possibly be benefited are the men who would handle the wheat on the sample market, and would mix it and fix it so as to bring the most profit to themselves. It is to the interests of every farmer to carefully study this sample market question in all its bearings.

At present, the farmer is safeguarded on every hand by statutory laws which are fairly well observed, and the farmer now has full control of his own wheat on the market. If he don't like to sell to the local dealer for any reason, either on account of grade or price, he can ship himself. The railway companies are compelled by law to furnish him a car in his turn and place it at a loading platform for him. At Winnipeg an honest grade is assured him by a government inspector and the wheat is sold at a fair market price. In short, he is master of the situation.

Under the system of a sample market the opposite is the case. The farmer is master of nothing. His wheat goes to Winnipeg, a sample is placed on the table in the grain exchange and it is sold for whatever the buyer chooses to give him. All the guarantees of fair play which he now enjoys are sacrificed, and his grain is placed at the disposal of a crowd of speculators, who agree amongst themselves not to bid one against another, but to play into each other's hands for their mutual benefit.

An attempt is being made to mislead the farmers on this matter, and false ideas and spurious arguments are being used to trap the unwary. It is the old game of the spider and the fly. They make the statement that wheat which is between grades will bring a better price on a sample market for purposes of mixing with lower qualities. This is a fallacious argument. The farmer knows by past experience that the only people to profit by the mixing of grain are the dealers. In this regard a recent interview with Mr. J. H. Haslam who is well known throughout the west is worthy of careful consideration. Mr. Haslam who has just returned from Europe states that the western Canadian wheat is losing its pre-eminence on the British market, and he warns the farmers of the west that they must see to it that they send their best wheat pure to the Old Country if they wish to retain their hold on the market and secure the best prices. In the light of this, what becomes of the mixing argument? Two qualities of wheat cannot be mixed without lowering one of them, and in doing so you reduce the standard of all. It must never be forgotten that the men who are seeking to establish a sample market are the men who have always sought to exploit the wheat trade of the west to further their own interests and deprive the farmers of a legitimate price for their grain.

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Expeller always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

Shearing Sheep With a Machine

Shearing sheep with a machine is practical for most farmers, says the Southern Agriculturist. As with any other machine, a man should have some knack with machinery to do the best work. The greatest advantage in using this method of shearing is that you get practically all the wool. During the World's Fair at St. Louis they had a contest between the old-fashioned method of shearing by hand and the newer one of clipping the sheep with the machine. After the expert hand shearer had finished a sheep the machine would clip about thirteen ounces of wool. So the saving of wool would soon pay for the shearing machine.

A man with from 25 to 100 head of sheep should use the hand machine, but with larger flocks the power machine is more practical. If one's neighbor raise sheep, they can install a power plant with a line shaft to run as many machines as they wish with a small gas engine. When shearing time comes they can set a day, collect their flocks and help each other. I have such a plant in my barn with three machines run from a line shaft with a loose pulley, so each machine can be operated or stopped independently, as the shearer wishes, by shifting the belt from the tight to the loose pulley. We shear with this plant, running three machines, about 200 sheep in a day with the average farm hands. A quick, strong young man with practice should shear 100 or more, while the expert will turn off 200 with one machine. But the average farm hand, to do a nice job, will average about 75 a day.

One of the greatest advantages in having a shearing plant with several machines is that you shear your whole flock in a day, thus getting them back to grass with their lambs. If you are two or three days shearing there is considerable loss to the lamb crop from keeping them up. Machine sheared sheep also look much better. —Southern Agriculturist.

Tamed Birds

Curiosity is a strong feature in most birds. They will always investigate anything new and bright-looking.

A small blue titmouse we once kept indoors for a week was a regular Paul Pry. His little body found its way into everything. Indeed, he was nearly drowned because, if a pitcher was on the table, he was sure to go into it; and to get out again with wet wings was not easy.

The human voice is a great assistance in the taming of any wild creature. A soft, gentle tone and kind manner will go far to win the confidence of birdish hearts. It fact, it is only a matter of time and patience; the wildest specimens will become friendly.

At first their apparent tameness is mainly cupboard love but in time it does often result in real personal affection. Then it is delightful to possess a bird who will welcome your coming with outstretched wings and every sign of overflowing joy.

A cardinal grosbeak which I once possessed for fourteen years would thus greet me, and the very tempting food would remain untouched while he warbled to me in the most gushing manner.

Gentlemen—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts, (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks' time every sore was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

Bicycles in War

A correspondent, interested in the hitherto neglected branch of the service, will be gratified to learn that the authorities are beginning to take serious notice of the possibilities involved in the use of the cycle in war. A great advance has been made of late in its employment for purposes of defence at home, in proof of which it is only necessary to refer to the increase in the number of purely cycle battalions maintained in the Territorial Force. But above and beyond that is the information contained in the new "War Establishments," which shows an increase in the number of bicycles in the regular Army, and a greater recognition of the motor cycle. A cavalry division has now 18 motor cycles and 371 ordinary bicycles, as against 118 of the latter hitherto. All this is very encouraging to those enthusiasts who have hitherto met with a somewhat cold reception from the Authorities in the advocacy of the cycle. But we regret there is no sign of any cyclists units in the Regular Army so far.

Johnny Ordered Out

You ought to have seen Mr. Marshall when he called upon Dolly the other night, remarked Johnny to his sister's young man, who was taking tea with the family. I tell you he looked fine sitting there alongside of her with his arm—

Johnny! gasped his sister, her face the color of a boiled lobster. Well, so he did, persisted Johnny. He had his arm—

John, screamed his mother, frantically.

Why, whined the boy, I was— John, said his father sternly, leave the room.

And Johnny left, crying as he went. I was only going to say that he had his army clothes on.—Ladies Home Journal.

Regularity

of the bowels is an absolute necessity for good health. Unless the waste matter from the food which collects there is got rid of at least once a day, it decays and poisons the whole body, causing biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches. Salts and other harsh mineral purgatives irritate the delicate lining of the bowels. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills—entirely vegetable—regulate the bowels effectively without weakening, sickening or griping. Use

"I Want You to Have My New Portable Granary"

"I have a money-saving invention—handy granaries to allow field threshing over your farm. Move them about each year. You save long hauls at harvest time. In spring you scatter small straw stacks—no burning of straw."

"These granaries come in compact bundles. A boy can set up and bolt one together in a few hours. Four padlocks protect the grain. Separator delivery into a spout on the side or into roof manhole—saves work during threshing. Your grain is protected from vermin, wet and thieves. Sell it when you are ready, loading direct from the granary into your wagon, or bagging it. No dusty or heated grain. Get my granary and be independent of elevators for selling. Sell at the highest price, no matter how long you store your grain. The Pedlar Granary protects you."

"Write me for my booklet. It shows how profitable my Granary is even on a single quarter-section farm. Use it for 1912. The Book Tells of Big Money for You."

B.C. COAST EATON'S FIR & CEDAR HIGH-GRADE LUMBER

FREE FROM CONSTRUCTIONAL DEFECTS

Our lumber is high grade in every respect. It is the equal of any and superior to most of the lumber on the market. We can confidently recommend our Fir to be one of the most durable woods to be found. It is not susceptible to dry rot and will give equal service to Oak, but not weighing so heavy, effects a considerable saving in freight charges. It has convinced the experts, and is now one of the most extensively used woods in the West. Let it convince you.

All common lumber—ship lap and dimensions—is air-dried. All finishing lumber—moulding, flooring, doors, windows, casings, ceiling, siding, etc.—is kiln dried, so that there is no danger of doors and windows warping.

We Invite Correspondence

Our Lumber Department is ready at all times to quote on outside sized doors, windows, etc., conditionally that the buyer furnishes an itemized list in order that we may quote rock-bottom figures. If you intend building this summer, you will do well to obtain our prices—quality considered, they are unequalled. Any of the plans shown in our Spring and Summer Catalogue may be had for $2.50, which amount will be refunded on receipt of order for lumber. However, if you prefer building from your own plans send us your bill of material and we will quote a price for all the material necessary, laid down in your own town.

Sinister.—This bill was innocent on its face, but beneath there lurked a most sinister significance.

The speaker, Senator Clarke, was discussing in Little Rock a measure of which he disapproved.

The bill reminded me, in fact, he said, of a Little Rock urchin's question. His question, innocent enough in appearance, dear knows, was this: Would you mind making a noise like a frog, uncle?

And why? said the uncle, with an amused smile, why, Tommy, do you desire me to make a noise like a frog.

Because, replied the urchin, whenever I ask daddy to buy me anything he always says, wait till your uncle croaks.—New York Tribune.

Some Football Game

A football game between Manager Bodine's coal heavers of the Knowlton coal mines and the Didsbury near champions came together on Monday night for a friendly game of football on the local grounds.

The game was somewhat after the style of water polo, as the shower of rain in the afternoon and that while the game was on made the grounds very muddy and heavy and the rain coming down while the game was on gave the players a cool bath.

In spite of the bad weather the teams played until about ten minutes of time being called, and while there were no first plays made the game was full of fun and excitement for the few spectators present, because of the slipping and falling of the players and their appearance when the game was over.

The men of the pick and shovel certainly played a whale of a game and deserve a great deal of credit for their stiff fight to put one over on the locals in the first half, they had the ball continuously on dangerous ground for their opponents and if Good, the goal for Didsbury, had not been on to his job once or twice they would have scored. As it was Didsbury made a good rush down the field and Geo. Sexsmith made a good play right in front of goal, passing the ball through and scoring one for Didsbury right on the second of half time. This was the only score made as the game had to be called about ten minutes before time on account of rain, although Didsbury was going better at this time.
